

R&D Technician (m/f/d) - Internal English (HH)

As part of the innovation team at Ohly, we are looking for an R&D Technician (m/f/d) to conduct experiments and analytical work in the laboratory, as well as flexibly support projects within the innovation department.

Your tasks

- Conducting experiments and analytical work in the laboratory.
- Flexible support for projects within the entire innovation department.
- Cross-team assistance with projects according to experimental plans.
- Diverse laboratory activities: Providing technical support
Conducting laboratory tests in coordination with R&D Technologists / Lead Experts / Global R&D Managers (m/f/d)
Sampling, preparation, and examination of samples
Internal analyses
Coordinating external analyses
Assisting with the upscaling of processes in the technical center as instructed or in collaboration with the PED department
Structured evaluation, assessment, and detailed documentation of results in the laboratory journal or project folders (Teams/Excel)
Taking on laboratory duties as part of general laboratory organization, such as cleaning equipment, laboratory cleaning, monitoring testing equipment, waste disposal
Creating order requests
Participating in project meetings
Additional tasks as part of teamwork or as instructed by the supervisor

Your profile

- Professional knowledge corresponding to the training BTA/CTA or comparable education
- Strong ability for daily written documentation of all activities
- Professional knowledge and/or work experience in biotechnological fields
- Basic knowledge of biotechnological processes, such as enzymatic reactions, fermentation, purification processes
- Advanced knowledge in the evaluation of analysis results and their assessment; documentation of results; creation and input of data in reports
- Proficient use of Microsoft Office programs; English in spoken and written form
- Teamwork and strong communication skills
- Analytical understanding and working method
- Understanding of more complex processes
- Solution-oriented and structured approach
- Strong organizational talent and structuring of daily work

Are you interested in supporting our Innovations team? Then we look forward to receiving your application.

You know someone who matches our requirements? Please share this advertisement on LinkedIn, Facebook, etc. and take part in our employee referral scheme.